

Birmingham Exiles Rugby Football Club

Player's Code of Conduct

All players must abide by the following rules, and if at any time they don't understand the Code of Conduct, they will do their best to find out by asking other members of the club:

1. All players must play in accordance with the laws of the game, and respect all officials and others associated with the game. Player's must participate fairly and safely causing no intentional harm to others.
2. During training, matches, social & representative events, all players must show respect, understanding and support for the organising committee, coaches, fellow members and honoured guests of Birmingham Exiles RFC.
3. The correct clothing and safety equipment must be worn at all times by players during training and matches. Gum shields and rugby/football boots with approved studs are to be worn along with suitable rugby kit. During the match it is requested that all player's wear club shorts and socks along with playing shirt.
4. Playing members of BERFC must train regularly, turn up promptly, arrive in club colours (during matches and events), show a positive and helpful attitude at all times and treat club property & facilities with utmost respect.
5. All players must show commitment, enthusiasm and encouragement at all times, enabling a positive team spirit during training/matches and other associated times.
6. The Club Captain will be responsible for arranging "Off the Field" activities. The Team Captain will be responsible for "On the Field" decisions ably supported by his Vice Captain. All players must respect the decision of the Captain's and support them at all times, along with respecting other team members.
7. Player's must confirm availability with the Communications Officer and/or coaches, especially for organised matches and festivals.
8. It is your club, so please ensure that you enjoy your time, enjoy the surrounding company and show the ability to learn, perform, succeed and have lots of FUN!

Birmingham Exiles RFC has the following motto "Forward in Unity". We would like you to join us in this motto and assist the club to take steps forward, work in partnership and create great friendships along the way.
